

revocation – the termination of a driver license or privilege for an indefinite period of time. May be restored when all requirements for the revocation have been satisfied right of way – privilege of having immediate use of a certain part of a road right turn on red – turning right when the red signal is on, after stopping behind the intersection guides, unless specifically prohibited to turn roadway marking – markings and lane delineators (reflectors) providing you with warning or direction rocking a vehicle – repeating the sequence of driving forward a little then back a little to move your vehicle out of deep snow, mud, or sand rumble strips – sections of rough pavement intended to alert drivers of approaching roadway construction, tollbooth plaza, or other traffic conditions

- S -

safety belt – a lap belt and any shoulder straps included as original equipment on or added to a vehicle safety chains – backup link used in case a trailer hitch fails school zone – portion of a street or highway near a school subject to special speed limits shared left-turn lane – the lane on a busy street helping drivers make safe mid-block left turns into business areas from a center lane skid – occurs when tire patches lose part or all of their traction on the roadway surface due to abrupt suspension balance or roadway surfaces conditions skid mark – a mark on the road surface from a tire sliding due to a loss of traction from braking or abrupt steering slow-moving vehicle – the vehicle is unable to travel at highway speed speed smear – occurs when objects in your peripheral vision become blurred and distorted as your speed increases staggered stop – stopping when the white line visually disappears under the hood line. This allows extra space for left-turning vehicles standard reference point – point which allows for vehicle placement on a road typical for most drivers stimulant – drug that speeds up the central nervous system stopping position – stopping behind a vehicle in a position allowing the driver enough space to steer around the vehicle to avoid a stalled, turning, or backing vehicle suspension – the temporary withdrawal of a driver license or privilege for a definite period of time

- T - tailgate – to follow another vehicle too closely total stopping distance – the distance your vehicle travels while you make a stop traction – friction or gripping power between the tire patches and the road surface traffic circle – the intersections that form when several roads meet at a circle traffic control devices – any signal, sign, or pavement marking used to control the movement of traffic traffic signal – any signal used to control the movement of traffic tunnel vision – the ability to see in a narrow field of vision of 140 degrees or less with little effective peripheral vision turn – vehicle maneuver to change direction to the left or right turnabout – the maneuvers for turning into or out of a road/driveway using reference points for positioning

- U - uncontrolled intersection – an intersection that has no signs or signals to regulate traffic including railroad crossings that do not have flashing red lights or crossing gates under-insured motorist insurance – covers costs exceeding the amount the other person's insurance company will pay as a result of a collision caused by another's fault uninsured motorist insurance – covers costs up to a certain amount if you are struck by another vehicle whose driver has no insurance