

1.13 | DRIVER TRAINING EDUCATION

Driver training schools approved to offer courses for new drivers under 18 will have classroom instruction and behind-the-wheel training from a licensed instructor.

School options include private driver training schools and select school districts. A map of approved schools and their services can be found by searching driver training school at dol.wa.gov.

OVER 18

Drivers over 18 who haven't completed a driver training course face an increased crash risk. To address this, some driver training schools also offer adult traffic safety courses for new drivers over the age of 18. You can take these classes as a novice driver, as someone new to the United States, or as a refresher. Proper training and skill review is good for any age.
